Hello Elliot.

Yes, that is obvious; I think CSRA may have had an issue with available resources at that time. But none-the-less the discussion didn't occur. I just want to insure US EPA receives all the programming code for the application modules for EMP that it paid for when Salient-CRGT (former Guidant) had the BPA contract. I've have CCed the key CSRA personnel that would be able to reach out to you.

That's great, I'll notify you when we have received the USB stick. Thanks.

Best.

Rob,

These type of questions should have been discussed during the 90 day transition period. We are not allowed to provide consulting services to the government without an active task order. We would still be happy to work with CSRA if they would like to reach out to our contracts lead (copied in this email).

I will mail the USB stick containing the export to the address you provided.

Hi Elliot,

My name is Ed Campbell – one of the team members over at CSRA on this project. I was wondering if it would be possible to schedule a knowledge transfer session between Christian Leckner and Rakhi Madhavan – Java developers, CC-ed here – and members of your Java team? There are some questions from our folks that I think would be most efficiently answered in a conference call / knowledge transfer setting. We can work around your availabilities in the next week or two. Please let me know if you think this is possible.

Ed,

Here is the info from the developer. Hope it helps

“All necessary libraries should be there. We cannot check the .zip files now because we do not have an access, but we included them .

As for EmpAdmin, there are two places for libraries in there. First is a dependencies folder which has 4 libraries, and another one is \WebContent\WEB_INF\lib

If for some reason they can't find those libraries in a zip file, we can send them separately.

Another way to retrieve libraries is getting them from the production or staging environments. “

Hi Elliot,

I understand that your team is fully engaged at this point. That said, we really didn't have an opportunity to transition this well on either side of the equation here and there are still some questions we really need answers to. There are a couple things we definitely need your input on/ can't ignore:

1. We found the source code provided doesn't have all the dependency jars required to build and run the project. For example, only 4 jars are included for EMP admin. Can we possibly receive the list of dependency jars with exact version numbers for all the projects (while we could take the latest jars, we may run into compatibility issues. Knowing the correct version would save time rather than trial and error). If there is a source control branch with the code version in prod with all the dependencies, that would be good enough.
2. Would your folks be willing to at least answer our outstanding queries in email, or a shared location, if any arise while trying to bring up our local environment and test environments?

Thank you for your understanding here.

FR SHEM User Forum:

It has been brought to my attention that using the following special characters `!%&~`@#$$` should be avoided when entering comments into the comments column using bulk training bulk upload feature in FR.

Please avoid using those special characters when making entries into the comments sections in the FR. Make sure to pass this note on to other data managers in your region or program office.

Hi Skip,

The problems that we ran into occurred when the special characters !%&~`@#"$ were used in the comments column. If your team could avoid using these characters in the comments column, they should not have any problems with using the training bulk upload feature in FR.

Thanks again for staying on the line to discuss this and the unidentified Data Managers in our database!

Have a great rest of your day and a wonderful weekend!

Thanks!

Subject: EPA EMP - Oil DB Module Discrepancy

Hello Elliot,

I wanted to reach out to you because we have identified a discrepancy in the version of the oildb module that was delivered to us via GoAnywhere on the FTP – it is different than what is on Staging and Production. With that said, we were wondering if it was possible to deliver us the current deployment of the oildb module on EPA Staging and Production. We would love to see the entire source code repository / tree for this module, so we could easily identify the difference between what was delivered to us and what is deployed – but failing that, we would settle for the version of the code that is currently deployed. I expect it is something harmless, such as minor tweaks / updates that your developers had made which were not deployed to production yet. We would prefer not to lose these, if possible – and to be sure the difference isn't something more critical. In addition, we want to insure Salient-CRGT has a positive legacy of their latest code on EPA Staging and Production environments.

Thanks,

Hello Elliot.

This email is to let you know we received the USB drive via UPS. Yet it only contained Oil DB source code... no tags etc were included. Any how we'll move forward with what we have; although it appears newer software versions are on the Staging versus Production Servers, we'll work that out. Thanks for your efforts.

Best.

Rob,

That is not possible. Our repository is inside the firewall so you would need an AD account and to VPN in.

Svitlana is onsite with her client today but is hoping to be back in the office tomorrow to do the export. I'll touch base with her in the morning.

Hey Elliot.

I wanted to follow up with you. The upload site for EMP application code is "FTP site (GoAnywhere) "newftp"". Since resources are short, hopefully the following notes from my Java Developers can help.

"If Svitlana can provide some basic details of how the repository is being provided – whether she used a standard SVN 1.7 svnadmin dump command, etc. What's needed most is if we can relate the repo to current production (so there would be a tagged version in that repo for this). Since production code is the goal to match between the two environments, plus the latest Oil DB and SMA code; that in-itself is where we can build our own Subversion repository off. If they have any reference to their current releases for Staging and Production environment in the EMP repository, that would be great.

Currently Old Source Code is on Production Server and New Source Code is on Staging Server source code.

Note: for reference, we're using TortoiseSVN on Windows, and Apache Subversion on Linux."

Hi Elliot.

Thanks for asking your IT Team and Svitlana's new PM to bring the server repository back online and run the export from the Trunk/Root of the (source) code. Understood. Yes I would like this to be uploaded to EPA. Let me find out the contract people for you to notify/email concerning the FTP servers. Thank you again.

Rob,

I talked to my IT team and they said it would not take long to bring the server repository back online. I've asked Sviltana's new PM if I can have a few minutes of her time to run the export for you again. As we are no longer under contract or funded we cannot spend resources troubleshooting the issues CSRA are having.

Please let me know how you would like us to upload this to EPA.

Thanks for the update on the USB flash stick shipped via UPS. Hopefully we'll be able to decipher the tag information etc..etc. i.e.

"tag 5.1.4 is on staging, tag 5.1.3 is on production. So that we can simply export it as a portable version or just the original files copied over (with no export)."

Elliot,

I understand the network security parameters. So it appears we have two options then:

- a.
- b.

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Sounds good. Thanks.

Best.

Rob,

That is not possible. Our repository is inside the firewall so you would need an AD account and to VPN in. Svitlana is onsite with her client today but is hoping to be back in the office tomorrow to do the export. I'll touch base with her in the morning.

Hey Elliot.

I understand the dilemma. Your suggest might work, but I'm out of the office after tomorrow. Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Rob,

We simply just can't commit her time when she is in the middle of a production release for another project. If it's easiest I can put the repository on a usb stick and bring it to EPA later this week.

Hey Elliot.

I wanted to follow up with you. The upload site for EMP application code is "FTP site (GoAnywhere) "newftp"". Since resources are short, hopefully the following notes from my Java Developers can help.

"If Svitlana can provide some basic details of how the repository is being provided – whether she used a standard SVN 1.7 svnadmin dump command, etc. What's needed most is if we can relate the repo to current production (so there would be a tagged version in that repo for this). Since production code is the goal to match between the two environments, plus the latest Oil DB and SMA code; that in-itself is where we can build our own Subversion repository off. If they have any reference to their current releases for Staging and Production environment in the EMP repository, that would be great.

Currently Old Source Code is on Production Server and New Source Code is on Staging Server source code.

Note: for reference, we're using TortoiseSVN on Windows, and Apache Subversion on Linux."

Please advise. Thanks again.

Hi Elliot.

Thanks for asking your IT Team and Svitlana's new PM to bring the server repository back online and run the export from the Trunk/Root of the (source) code. Understood. Yes I would like this to be uploaded to EPA. Let me find out the contract people for you to notify/email concerning the FTP servers. Thank you again.

Rob Thomas.

Rob,

I talked to my IT team and they said it would not take long to bring the server repository back online. I've asked Svitlana's new PM if I can have a few minutes of her time to run the export for you again. As we are no longer under contract or funded we cannot spend resources troubleshooting the issues CSRA are having.

Please let me know how you would like us to upload this to EPA.

Hi Elliot.

In regards to EPA funded services/products. What code is left on your company's servers for EMP? Have you sent any update to the trunk or base source code repository? Thanks.

Hi Elliot.

Thanks for clarity of this eBusiness record. It may be for Card Readers/PIVs. Yes I received the card readers and PIV cards from you. We'll inform you if we learn of anything different. Thanks for your time and attention.

Rob,

Jess never had a laptop. Based on the date I'm guessing this is for the card readers I returned to you

Subject: FW: Registration for an EPA Laptop

Good afternoon Elliot.

I received the following eBusiness registration from our OEM eBusiness Account Manager. It shows there is a laptop still out under Jessica Ferguson's name. Is it with your IT personnel at Salient-CRGT? Can you help with this request? Let me know if you have any questions. Thanks.
